importantly, they’ve been called “MEMORABLE.”*

In preparing for the PMP® Certification Exam, there’s nothing more frustrating than wondering...

Am I studying the right stuff?

Wonder no more. KNOW. And Remember.

Join Carl Pritchard, PMP®, PMI-RMP® in a two-day excursion into knowing what you need to know to know you’ll pass the Project Management Institute’s PMP® Certification Exam. He’ll walk through the resume process (and warn you about some of the “red flags” they look for in audits), and through each of the ten knowledge areas with tools, tips and techniques to brace yourself for the joy that is the PMP® exam.

Frequently Asked Questions:

Who is this guy?

He's an instructor who has taught with PMI® for over a decade at the National Symposia and Congresses and who is actually pretty entertaining. He's also a skilled facilitator and mentor who makes information stick.

What will the course cover?

The course works through the resume process, the TEN knowledge areas, professional responsibility and the mind-frame required to pass the PMP®.

I saw a boot camp that's FOUR DAYS long and costs FOUR TIMES AS MUCH! Do you cover all the same stuff?

Short answer? Yes. Longer answer? They spend a LOT of their class time having you take and re-take practice exams. That's VERY VERY important. But we trust that you can do that on our practice test interface on your own time. So you don't have to pay for Carl to stand around watching you take the practice tests. It shortens the time in the classroom and it saves you and your organization serious money.

How much time after the course should elapse before I'm ready to sit for the exam?

That depends on the individual. If you finish the course and feel like the entire thing was a refresher of content you knew, two weeks to brush up on content should suffice. For every knowledge area where you say to yourself, "Darn! There were a lot of terms there that I never heard before!" or "We never do it that way at [insert your organization's name here]" ...add a week to your preparation time. Most folks find that 4-6 weeks after the course is adequate to steel them for the experience.

Others do practice tests (FREE WITH THE COURSE) from the moment they register, and are ready mere DAYS after the class.

What course materials will I get?

You'll get a copy of the Guide to the Project Management Body of Knowledge. You'll have the option of ordering, in advance of the course (at cost), one of three highly recommended support texts based on your personal needs. If you need a fundamental refresher, we suggest that Rita Mulcahy's "PMP® Exam Prep" book is a good basics starter. If you have the fundamentals down, but fear the PMI-ese in the test and the challenges of tough question wording, we highly recommend LeRoy Ward's "PMP Exam Prep & Study Guide". And, if it's the exam mathematics that cause you trepidation, the best option is the Carl Pritchard (yes, your instructor) text, "The Project Management Drill Book." These can be ordered prior to the class and will be delivered to you at the class session. (Sure! Carl would love to autograph his book for you!)

You'll also get the course handouts which are invaluable in preparing for the exam, but prove utterly worthless as a long-term reference.

AND WAIT...There's MORE! You get immediate access to PMCERTIFICATIONEXAM.COM...A powerful, web-based exam experience, coupled with audio files to help you practice, practice, practice.

What if I fail?

You won't. Attitude is everything. You need to believe that you'll pass this thing. Carl has led over 3040 students through the PMP® experience who have successfully passed the exam. Less than 4% have ever reported back that they did not pass on the first try.

After the course, is it all up to me?

Yes and no. You'll determine whether or not you pass by your levels of preparation and hard work. But as you continue your studies, Carl becomes your e-mail mentor. He always responds within 24 hours and clarifies content you'll wrestle with right up to exam day. So yes, we can't take the exam for you. But no, you'll always have Carl's personal support right up to the time you walk into the center and start pushing those buttons.

I have more questions than when I started. Is there someone I can talk to?

Talk to the maestro himself. Pop Carl an e-mail with any pre-exam questions or concerns. He'll respond within 24 hours and try to clarify anything he can. (His email is carl@carlpritchard.com) or, leave a message on his cell phone, and he'll try to get back to you in a timely fashion (although frankly, he's more timely on e-mail than cell phone calls).

I'm convinced. How do I sign up?
